

Did you know it is possible to water your outdoor landscape each day without ever turning on your sprinkler?

Everywhere on Earth, even in the hottest climates, the surrounding atmosphere contains at least some water. The quantity of water vapor contained within the air is commonly reported as a relative humidity, and this depends on temperature—warmer air can contain more water vapor than cooler air. Did you realize the atmosphere in the USA alone contains over 3 trillion gallons of water?

INSTRUCTIONS FOR APPLICATION TO LANDSCAPE:

- STEP 1: Wet your existing lawn for about 5 minutes.
- STEP 2: Spray the concentrate and water mixture on the lawn and bed areas (only the soil or turf) to the point of runoff.
- Step 3: Irrigate for 20 minutes all areas treated with AquaGreen. This last step waters the product into the root zone for maximum results.

AquaGreen is a humectant. Many humectants are utilized in everyday lotions and cosmetics to moisturize your skin; in the soil profile, we use the humectants to convert the humidity in the air into water droplets in the soil profile; the more humid the environment, the more water droplets that are created in the soil profile. We make water each day for the plants keeping them succulent and from drying out. This product will eliminate a potential fire hazard, since the plant will not catch fire.

Take a photo of your lawn area before treatment with your cell phone. Apply AquaGreen, then take a photo one week later. Do not mow the lawn in between photos, we need to see the greenup and growth of the lawn all because of the moisture from the atmosphere.
